RGD Tech Order Cancellation Policy 2026

RGD Tech | Policy and Knowledge Base | Version 2026.1 | Effective 1 July 2026

1. Cancellation Overview

Customers may request cancellation, but whether cancellation is possible depends on the current order and shipment status.

2. Before Shipment

Orders may generally be cancelled without a cancellation fee before shipment.

The customer receives a refund according to the refund policy when payment has already been captured.

3. After Shipment

Once an order has shipped, cancellation may no longer be possible.

The customer may instead need to receive the product and use the applicable return process.

4. After Delivery

Delivered orders are not treated as cancellations; eligible cases should follow the return policy.

5. Promotional Orders

Cancellation of promotional orders may affect promotional pricing and any associated refund calculation.

6. Automatic Cancellation

RGD Tech may cancel orders for payment failure, inventory unavailability, suspected fraud, or other operational reasons.

Customers should receive an appropriate notification where required.

7. Refunds After Cancellation

When a cancellation is approved after payment capture, the refund follows the refund policy and original payment method rules.

8. FAQs

Q: Can a shipped order always be cancelled? A: No. Once shipped, the customer may need to use the return process.

Q: Where do we check whether a specific order has shipped? A: In the live order and shipment records.
