RGD Tech Refund Policy 2026

RGD Tech | Policy and Knowledge Base | Version 2026.1 | Effective 1 July 2026

1. Policy Overview

This policy defines when RGD Tech customers are eligible for refunds, how refunds are calculated, the payment method used for refunds, and the expected processing timelines.

2. Refund Eligibility

Refunds are available after an eligible return, approved cancellation, or confirmed defective-product case.

Refund eligibility depends on the product category, the applicable return window, product condition, and the outcome of inspection where inspection is required.

A refund is not automatically approved merely because a customer requests one; the underlying return or cancellation must satisfy the applicable policy.

3. Refund Time Limits

Laptops are generally eligible for return and refund consideration within 30 calendar days of delivery.

Smartphones are generally eligible within 15 calendar days of delivery.

Tablets are generally eligible within 15 calendar days of delivery.

Accessories are generally eligible within 10 calendar days of delivery.

The order record and delivery date in the RGD Tech transactional system determine whether the applicable window has been met.

4. Refund Calculation

The normal refund amount is the eligible amount actually paid for the returned item, after applicable discounts.

Shipping charges are refundable only when the return is caused by an RGD Tech error, a confirmed defect, or another exception explicitly approved under policy.

Partial refunds may be issued when only part of an order is returned.

5. Refund Processing

After an approved return passes inspection, RGD Tech normally initiates the refund within 2 business days.

Customers should normally see the refunded amount within 5–7 business days after processing, depending on the payment provider.

The refund is normally sent back to the original payment method.

6. High-Value Refunds

Refunds above INR 50,000 require Finance approval before final processing.

Support agents may collect the required information and create the refund request but may not independently approve a high-value refund.

Finance approval is recorded against the refund transaction.

7. Damaged, Defective, and Exceptional Cases

Confirmed manufacturing defects may qualify for a refund even when additional review is required.

Physical damage caused after delivery may be excluded unless an approved exception applies.

Where a replacement is offered instead of a refund, the customer must be informed of the available resolution.

8. Discounted and Promotional Orders

Refunds for promotional purchases are based on the amount actually paid for the returned item.

If a promotional condition required multiple items to be purchased together, returning one item may require recalculation of the promotion.

9. Frequently Asked Questions

Q: How long does a refund take? A: RGD Tech normally initiates an approved refund within 2 business days and customers should normally receive it within 5–7 business days after processing.

Q: Can a support agent approve a refund above INR 50,000? A: No. Finance approval is required.

Q: Where is a customer's actual refund status stored? A: The live status is stored in RGD Tech's transactional system; this policy only defines the rules and expected timelines.