RGD Tech Shipping Policy 2026

RGD Tech | Policy and Knowledge Base | Version 2026.1 | Effective 1 July 2026

1. Shipping Overview

This policy describes standard and express delivery, shipping charges, delivery exceptions, and procedures for delayed, lost, or damaged shipments.

2. Delivery Estimates

Standard shipping normally takes 3–5 business days after dispatch.

Express shipping normally takes 1–2 business days after dispatch.

Delivery estimates are not guarantees and may vary because of carrier, weather, public holidays, remote locations, or operational disruption.

3. Shipping Charges

Shipping charges depend on product, destination, service level, and applicable promotions.

Eligible orders may qualify for free standard shipping.

Express shipping may carry an additional charge.

4. Delays

When a shipment exceeds the expected delivery period, support should first verify the carrier status and latest estimated delivery date.

Repeated carrier exceptions should be escalated according to the support policy.

5. Lost or Damaged Shipments

A shipment marked lost by the carrier may require carrier investigation before replacement or refund is finalized.

For visible delivery damage, customers should report the issue promptly and provide requested evidence where applicable.

Resolution depends on the investigation and the applicable return/refund policy.

6. Address Changes

Address changes may be possible before dispatch.

Once a shipment has been handed to the carrier, address changes may depend on carrier capabilities and may not be guaranteed.

7. International Shipping

International availability, duties, taxes, and delivery times vary by destination.

Customers are responsible for charges explicitly identified as customer-paid import duties or taxes unless an order states otherwise.

8. FAQs

Q: Where is the live tracking status? A: The live shipment status and tracking number are stored in the transactional system.

Q: Does 3–5 business days include time before dispatch? A: No. The standard estimate refers to the normal delivery period after dispatch.